> But what are the facts in the case? Laws have been passed creating corporations. Large tracts of land have been given them gratuitously. Charters have been granted to railroads built by foreign capital and laws have been passed year after year by which foreigners have been enabled to gain large possessions on American soil, until today thousands of American born citizens are not able to procure a home. In the name of justice we ask, is this right? Many of them own thousands of acres, which, through agents, they are renting to poor tenants, from whom they exact the last penny they can get for rent; and upon which lands they will not erect comfortable houses, that the poor tenant, his wife and little one may be sheltered from the howling blasts of winter, while they are lords and nobles, living in splendor and fattening upon the illgotten gain they have stolen from the

Do not think the picture overdrawn dear reader. It is only too true. Little do those who are not well informed on this point know of the suffering and destitution to be found in our land. I propose giving some figures which will show the facts as they exist. Over 20,000,000 acres in our United tates are owned by men holding high EGGS-Hc. official positions in foreign governments; 60,000,000 are owned by railroads, controlled by foreign capital, while private citizens of European countries own 70,000,000 more; 150,000,-000 acres, making an area four times as large as the state of Pennsylvania, an empire in itself and yet all under control of a foreign power and foreign capital. Large quantities of it are in cultivation in the Mississippi valley and much in the gulf states.

The men who cultivate it are some of them foreigners and tenant farmers but very many of them are citizens of American birth and paying tribute to lords and dukes, many of them, in many instances, lords and dukes of the British empire. Is it any wonder that we howl at this state of affairs?

Suppose we allow 5,000,000 acres as of the 150,000,000 acres held by foreigners, we would have 140,000,000 left for home for American citizens. Now 160 acres; this would give homes to $75,000 men. Or suppose every man to get 80 acres: this would give homes to with many homeless families. We hold this to be right, that Americans The stockholders of the Alliance Ex- should own American soil.
